Regd No: 87683/068/069

Background:

As we know that most part of Nepal is village dominated but some cities are developed only in certain parts of the kingdom. Due to insufficient facilities and lack of proper management, cities are being converted into big storage of concrete and congestion. On the other hand there are fresh and beautiful places in the villages. In spite of these conditions people desire to migrate from villages to cities. One can shift from village to nearby city to gain more facilities but in reality the person will suffer from many new difficulties that the same person will be again eager to shift to another big city. Here also the new problems may arise. Finally the person migrates from one country to another developed country. Nevertheless it is not certain that, person will be able to pass his/her life in peace in new places. Then only one option will be left is to shift over and over again.

Thus, the ultimate solution is that we should manage, maintain, protect, nourish and flourish the existing villages by co-operation and support of local communities.
